

FILM PRODUCTION WORKSHOP

ANN-DAVID-MARIA

INT. ROOM - DAY

ANN rushes in. Upset. An apologetic DAVID tiptoes behind her.

She stops at the window across the room; he--at a safe distance from her--in the middle of the room.

She doesn't want to talk--her back is to him. He wants to, but doesn't dare.

He moves one step closer. Two. Three. He stops next to her.

They are next to each other at the window, looking outside.

He looks at her. She turns her back to him.

He touches her arm. She turns around reluctantly. Tears roll down her cheek.

He smiles. She reciprocates. He wipes tears from her cheek and moves closer to kiss her.

MARIA appears in the doorway.

Ann and David look at her. She smiles to them.

David and Maria exchange knowing glances.

Ann's smile turns to anger. She looks at David, then back at Maria, and again at David.

David turns back to Ann to explain, but Ann pushes him away and rushes out of the room past Maria.

Maria leans against the door, a faint smile on her face.

David is at the window, looking outside.

They are alone at opposite ends of the room.